FABRIC maché

Interior designer and artist Ruth Levine uses textured and digitally printed fabrics of her own photography to create tactile pieces with a sense of history. Her latest works, which include (from left) 'Chanel Ginza' knitted bowl and 'Saks' bowl, are now available at Sydney's Spence & Lyde; spenceandlyde.com.au.

ADAM CORNISH HAS DELIVERED TWO NEW MODULAR WALL-PANELLING PRODUCTS FOR INSTYLE INSPIRED BY PLANT LIFE. 'FOLIAR' MIMICS THE MOVEMENT OF LEAVES, CAN BE ARRANGED IN ENDLESS TESSELATIONS AND COMES IN A RANGE OF COLOURS — WHILE 'ECOUSTIC FOLIAR' (BELOW) IMPROVES A ROOM'S ACOUSTIC PERFORMANCE. INSTYLE.COM.AU.

THE SLEEPING MUSE

In homage to iconic modernist sculptor Constantin Brâncuși, designer Hervé Langlais and glass artists Perrin & Perrin of Paris's Galerie Negropontes have created a collection of furniture and sculpture (including 'Muse Mirror', pictured). It will be on show at PAD in London, 15–19 October; negropontes-galerie.com.

NEW TUBE

Melbourne designer Adam Lynch aims to expand on the seeming simplicity of the humble tube chair with his leather and steel 'TBC' (pictured), which takes its cue from Marcel Breuer's 'Wassily' design of 1926; adamgclubicon.com.au.

EARTH hours

Australia's inaugural Festival of Landscape Architecture will bring the design community to Brisbane, 16–18 October, for a series of talks and tours. There will also be an exhibition of Australian landscape photography that includes the likes of John Gollings' Australian Garden Stage 2 (right). Yan Trinh of Queensland Museum and Dr Anton James of JMD Design will be among the speakers; forecast.afla.org.au.
